

Lesson 1A - Born Free

Right to Equality

Human rights need to be protected by the law. Members of the United Nations created the Universal Declaration of Human Rights so that everyone would know what human rights are.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR), Preamble

Learning Point: To establish interest in learning about human rights.

1. WELCOME (5 minutes)

Sing the song, "Here We Are Together" (page 4)

Welcome children warmly and show them where to sit.

2. REVIEW (5 minutes)

Initial Student Assessment (page 2)

- Do this on the first day in order to learn what your students know about human rights.
- Explain that this is a short questionnaire (not a quiz), and that there are no wrong answers.
- Proceed with the assessment. Count the number of "yes" and "no" answers for each question. Record the totals on the questionnaire. Thank the students.

Facilitator tip: If possible, have someone else with you to assist, count and record answers.

Keep the assessment in a safe place. You will need it again after Lesson 10B.

3. INTRODUCTION (10 minutes)

Activity: Getting to Know You

Show a short stick. Ask if anyone has ever heard of a Talking Stick.

- Explain that many communities use a Talking Stick to ensure that everyone can be heard and listened to. When a person has the Talking Stick, no one else may speak.
- Today we're going to use the Talking Stick to get to know each other better.

You can also use a stone or other small item, and ask students to substitute the name of the object, such as a Talking Stone.

Instructions

- Turn to the person next to you so you each have a partner. Tell each other 2 things: your name and your favorite color.

- Raise your hand when you finish. When we're all ready, I'll call on one of you and give you the stick to say what you learned about your partner. Then give the stick to your partner to tell us things about you.
- I'll call on another pair of partners to do the same, and so on (staying within the time limit).

Question

How did you feel when you had the Talking Stick and everyone was listening to you?

4. DEVELOPMENT (5 minutes)

Show the logo image on the previous page. What do you see in this image?

After students answer, explain: This logo stands for children and their books, celebrating human rights education and learning. That is what we will be doing in the next few weeks.

5. CONCLUSION (5 minutes)

Explain that if the students have not heard of the United Nations or human rights, that's okay. Human Rights are things like the right to have a family, the right to be safe, and the right to an education.

Activity: Story, The Race (page 3)

- Raise your hand if you've ever been in a race.
- Tell the story with the pictures, and ask:*
- What would you have done if you were Ivan?

6. CHALLENGE

- Make a Talking Stick. Use it to tell your family and friends about the Colega logo, and ask them to tell you what they think about it.
- Tell them the true story of the race between the runner from Kenya and the runner from Spain who wanted us all to be winners.

Please, briefly comment on the human rights you believe you have: _____ _____ _____

Save the Assessment with answers in a safe place to refer to at the end of this course. A similar evaluation is included in the last lesson so that you can see the progress of your students.

Facilitator tip: Please fill out the brief Facilitator Notes and Reflections section for today's lesson (page 70).

Activity: The Race

Kenyan runner Abel Mutai was in a big race in Spain. He was only a few meters from the finish line, but he got confused with the signs in Spanish, and he stopped, thinking he had finished the race.

Spanish runner Ivan Fernandez was right behind him and recognized that Abel was confused.

Ivan started shouting to Abel Mutai to keep running. But Abel did not know Spanish and did not understand.

Realizing what was going on, Ivan pushed Abel across the finish line to victory.

A reporter asked Ivan, "Why did you do this? You could have won the race." Ivan replied, "My dream is that one day we can all be winners." The reporter insisted, "But why did you let the Kenyan win?" Ivan replied, "I didn't let him win, he was going to win. The race was his."

"But you could have won!" the reporter said. Ivan looked at him and replied: "But what would be the honor of my victory? He was the rightful winner. What would my mother think if I didn't help my friend?"

And that's what we're going to do. We're going to help each other reach the finish line as we learn about our human rights.

Optional: As you tell the story, have 2 students pantomime the runners, while you take the role of the reporter.

Here We Are Together

To hear the music go to: www.go-hre.org/music

Here we are together*, together, together;
Oh, here we are together with our happy face.
There's (child's name) and (another name)
and (another name) and (name);
Oh, here we are together in our happy place.

*Alternate phrases:

Here we go a-walking

Here we are a-singing

Here we go a-marching

Here we are a-clapping

Instructions:

As soon as a few children arrive, sing the song, naming a few who are there. Encourage the children to sing with you the second and third time, naming different children each time through. This is a good way to begin. Children love to hear their own names.

- Improvise actions as suggested by the words.
- The list above offers only a few of the possibilities.
- Consider other phrases that might fit the music and the occasion.

Lesson 1B - Born Free

Right to Equality

We are all born free and equal in dignity and rights to every other human being. You have the ability to think and to tell right from wrong. You should treat others with friendship.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Article 1

Learning Point: Children will understand what is meant by “human rights” and “free” and “equal.”

1. WELCOME (5 minutes)

Welcome children warmly.

If you prefer, use a song that students already know that expresses a similar idea.

2. REVIEW (5 minutes)

Using the Talking Stick, can someone tell us what our logo stands for? Children celebrating books and human rights.

3. INTRODUCTION (5 minutes)

Show the picture of the United Nations (page 6).

Activity: Class Rules

Explain that before we talk about human rights, we need rules to help us have an orderly class.

While using the Talking Stick, ask:

- What rules would you like to have?

Repeat what the students say, and ask, “Did I hear you correctly?”

Quickly write all the ideas on the board or paper so you can prepare a simple Class Rules chart to be displayed each week.

From their list, allow students to choose no more than 4 rules that they like best. Encourage words such as RESPECT and RESPONSIBILITY. Here are some ideas:

- Listening: Our Talking Stick makes us aware of how we listen to each other—something very important in our class. That means that all eyes and ears are focused on the speaker!
- Respectful language: Use words that are not mean or disrespectful to other people.

- Following: Listen carefully to the facilitator and follow directions.
- Punctuality: Try to be in class on time.

4. DEVELOPMENT (10 minutes)

Show the picture of the United Nations on page 6 again. Let’s talk about another important set of rules.

- The United Nations (or the UN) committee included people from 18 different countries.

Question:

Why would it be important to have people from different cultures on the committee?

Read or have a child read Article 1 of the UDHR. Have everyone repeat it.

- What if you are poor?
- Who is born free and equal in rights?
- What does it mean when we say “human rights”? What does the word “right” mean?

Write all answers on the chalkboard, using 1 or 2 main words for each answer.

- Explain: A right is something you’re allowed to be, do, or to have. A right is like a rule that exists because it is the fair thing to do. (Have class repeat the last phrase together.)

5. CONCLUSION (5 minutes)

Ask what would a Human right be? Guide students to recognize that a human right is a right we have just because we are human beings.

6. CHALLENGE

- Tell your family and friends about the United Nations and Article 1 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.
- Explain that human rights are like rules that are fair, and they apply to everyone just because we are human beings.

Lesson 1B - Born Free

This is a picture of the UNITED NATIONS building, also known as the UN, with flags from all the countries who are members of the United Nations. It was created in 1945 at the end of a terrible war called World War Two that killed millions of people all over the world. The UN appointed a committee of men and women from different countries and cultures, who created a set of rules for the whole world, known as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. It is a universal document without reference to any particular culture, political system or religion. It lists 30 articles or “rules” that all of us should follow to ensure the life, liberty, and happiness of every person. These articles are called “Human Rights,” and they proclaim the worth of every person on earth, saying that we all have equal value. It still exists today.

Article 1

We are all born free and equal in dignity and rights to every other human being. You have the ability to think and to tell right from wrong. You should treat others with friendship.
